44-Cent Steel Raise Brews WLB Crisis Get Toe Hold On Rich Farm, Oil Territory

LABOR BOARD DUE TO MAKE RULING TODAY

Rejection of $1-a-Day Demand Protested Vigorously By Union Leaders.

BOOST RETROACTIVE

Decision Expected To Affect
'Big Steel' and Workers
In Auto Industry.

WASHINGTON—The War Labor Board, in an order prepared for announcement today, has granted 157,000 "little steel" workers a wage increase of 44 cents a day, maintenance of union membership and a checkoff of union dues.

The decision was reached after nearly two weeks of board discussions in which union members insisted upon the full $1 a day increase and a union shop demanded by the United Steel Workers (CIO).

Public members joined with industry representatives on the board in ordering the wage increase, by an eight to four vote.

Vigorous protests by the labor members and resentment among steel union leaders at rejection of the $1-a-day demand led to some doubt about immediate union acceptance.

The wage increase will be retroactive to last February, when the four cases were certified to the board.

The decision in "Little Steel" was regarded as the most significant WLB action since President Roosevelt announced his seven-point anti-inflation program three months ago.

The wage increase is expected to have a direct bearing in the board's action on identical demands affecting 400,000 automobile workers.

In addition to the 157,000 employees of Inland Steel, Republic Steel, Bethlehem Steel, and Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, directly affected by the order, the wage increase probably will be made effective for 450,000 employees of "Big Steel." The industry always has maintained a policy of uniform wages.

Labor officials expect that the order also will have a bearing in (Continued on Page 22, Col. 4)

SOLDIER TRIED Faces Charge of Slaying 3 Australian Women.

MELBOURNE—(AP)—A United States military court, trying Private Edward J. Leonski for the slaying of three Melbourne women, accented in evidence today a purported confession of guilt which army officers said the former New York grocery clerk had signed in their presence.

The court also heard a soldier, who said he and Leonski were "good camp friends," testify the defendant had told him he committed two of the killings.

The witness said that on the night of May 9—the night during which Mrs. Pauline Buchanan Thompson was slain near an American camp—he saw Leonski standing before his tent weeping and apparently drunk.

"I asked him what was the matter," the soldier testified "and he said, 'I killed! I killed!'"

TRIES NEW PARK TRAFFIC SET-UP

Boals To Shift Stop Signals,
Ban Left Turns in Move
To End Congestion.

Another in a series of efforts to eliminate Mansfield's traffic "bottleneck" around Central park will be started Monday.

Traffic Commissioner Fred C. Boals said today that he had worked out a plan he hoped would eliminate the confusion caused by the present system of traffic lights which he blamed for "backwash" of traffic which paralyzed other traffic intersections.

Commissioner Boals said his plan is to regulate traffic around the park by regulating it before it gets to the park.

The new system, Boals hopes, will not only speed up vehicular traffic but give added protection to pedestrians.

Boals outlined the following steps:

1. Elimination of the present traffic signal at Park avenue and Main street.
2. Prohibition of any turns east onto Park avenue from Walnut street.

Board at Butler Hires New School Head for One Year

R. C. Rehder, superintendent of the Richmond schools for the past five years, was employed last night to head the Butler schools during the 1942-43 term. He received a one-year contract.

Rehder, who is 46, takes the superintendency vacated by William S. Weekley, who resigned July 6 on the eve of a public hearing of misconduct charges filed against him by the Butler board.

The board at the same time withdrew charges Weekley held the Butler post for five years.

Rehder was chosen from nearly a dozen applicants, and received the approval of four of the five members of the board. The fifth member, Walter Wareham, is on vacation and did not attend the meeting. It was understood he informed the board he approved the hiring of Rehder.

With 22 years of school experience, Rehder has been a superintendent for 14 years. He headed the West Lafayette schools nine years before going to Richmond. He is a native of Coshocton county. He was graduated from Ohio university and Bliss college in Columbus and holds a master's degree from Ohio State university.

County Superintendent Boyd Robinson said three vacancies remain in the Butler teaching staff as the result of resignations. The board must employ physical education, music, and commercial teachers.

WAGE-FREEZE LAW REQUEST EXPECTED SOON

Partial Collapse of Price

RECESS DOUBTFUL

Congress Likely To Be Kept
In Session To Act on Pay Stabilization.

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON — Threatened with a partial collapse of the price control system, the administration was reported today to be preparing a request for new legislation built around some form of wage stabilization.

President Roosevelt has discussed the situation with congressional leaders several times in recent weeks. Informed congressmen who declined quotations by name said the president was about ready to make known the remedial steps he and price control officials believe should be taken.

As a result, members of congress who had been looking forward to a recess of several weeks, starting in about ten days were being told they might have to revise their plans.

Rising farm prices, which have not yet reached the statutory ceiling in the basic price control act, already have caused Leon Henderson, price administrator, to raise the ceiling on canned and dried fruits. Sporadic increases in wages, in the cost of raw products and in other miscellaneous costs such as transportation have made an "extremely light" situation with reference to many other ceilings, the congressional sources said.

Henderson told a house committee yesterday the price control program was in danger of breaking down and that wage control was the next thing over the horizon.

There was no immediate indication of the nature of specific proposals Mr. Roosevelt might have in mind, but it was reported that one would deal with "freezing" wages at the present levels. This would block requests for raising costs of living.

Fixible Given Right To Make More Passenger Buses.

LOUDBONVILLE — Production of buses halted 10 days ago by a war production "freezing" order was resumed today by the Fixible company, it was announced here by Hugo H. Young, president of the firm.

Young said the company had been granted a temporary production extension yesterday by the government and the approximately 500 employees "furloughed" 10 days had been called back to work.

The extension will continue through the balance of this year, Young said, after which the company will immediately launch a war production schedule without interruption of work.

The company, one of the nation's largest builders of medium-size buses, maintains two plants here and one in Millersburg.

Spies Nearly Escaped Despite Vigilance of Coast Guardsmen

Evidence Shows 4 Nazis Spent Five Hours at Railway Station.

(By International News Service)
WASHINGTON — Evidence in the hands of government attorneys prosecuting the eight Nazi saboteurs before a military commission in Washington today shows that four of the spies escaped immediate capture after they were landed, because military authorities failed to search a railroad station at Amagansett, L. I., following the "invasion" alarm.

Some of the secrecy surrounding the landing of four of the German agents on Amagansett beach from a Nazi submarine was dispelled by an official coast guard statement which disclosed that a coast guardsman actually stumbled into them as they were coming ashore. The coast guardsman, 21-year-old John C. Cullen, of Bayside, L. I., was unarmed at the time.

The coast guard statement said that Cullen reported the landing promptly to his superiors and the coast guard, army and navy conducted a hunt for the saboteurs for hours without notifying the FBI. Later, the FBI tracked down not only the four spies who landed at Long Island but four others who were landed by submarine on the Florida coast.

From other sources it was learned that the government has evidence proving that the four Long Island spies went from the beach to a nearby railroad station, not far distant from the coast guard station to which Cullen was a t a h e d . They were said to have waited for a train to New York for about five hours but no one bothered them or searched the station.

The coast guard statement said that the beach at Amagansett was fog-bound when Cullen came across the saboteurs, two of whom were in bathing suits. They offered Cullen $300 to "forget the whole thing," and Cullen, realizing the odds were against him, agreed. In the dark, the state- ment said, the Nazis short-changed Cullen and gave him only $260.

USO to Open New Rooms for Service Men In 'Y' Sept. 1

Richland county's new U. S. O. service club for men in uniform will open in the Mansfield Y. M. C. A. about Sept. 1, it was announced today, along with a final report that the county U. S. O. campaign had raised $16,933 in Mansfield and Richland county, exclusive of Shelby. The campaign closed yesterday.

The offer of the Y. M. C. A. executive board of the northwest room of the building, which has served as campaign headquarters since June 1 was accepted yesterday by the USO canteen committee, George H. Smith, county president, said.

A report of the committee's plans was made to the executive board in the Chamber of Commerce rooms last night when the six weeks' campaign for $22,000 officially closed.

Decorating of the new canteen will start as soon as possible after July 25, when campaign headquarters closes, Jane Williams, canteen committee chairman, said.

Council Quickly Sends Measure
To County Committee;
Cut Expected.

Mansfield city council last night approved a budget request for 1943 municipal operation totalling $386,113—largest in the city's history—thus approving the finance committee's boost of $47,000 over the administration's original figure of $339,103. Only five of the nine council members were present.

The budget measure now goes to the county budget commission for final review. It is expected that the commission will make a sharp reduction in the city's request.

The request exceeds the amount asked for 1942 municipal expenditures by $41,880 and is $78,000 in excess of what the city actually will receive for operations for the current year.

Wednesday night's public hearing was attended by only two women, neither advancing any remarks on the budget theme.

Battle for Voronezh Mounts In Fury, as Axis Re-Takes Hill Positions In Egypt; Vichy Angered at U. S.
Recognition of Fighting French.

(By Associated Press)
A German foothold some 20 miles inside the northern Caucasus and another on the northernmost rim were officially conceded today by the Russians while the sanguinary struggle for Voronezh on the north flank of the enemy's menacing bulge along the Don river attained a new degree of ferocity.

An informed British source said it was evident that Germany was throwing her full weight into the present offensive before Britain and the United States can invade Europe.

Even so, he said, the Allies are not likely to be able to form a second front in time to relieve the pressure on the Red armies now or later this summer.

These expressions accompanied a British military commentator's confirmation of Russian reports that several German reserve divisions had recently been moved to the eastern front from Belgium and France.

The commentator said, however, that the diverted German troops were not garrison divisions trained in western Europe. The garrison strength, he said, remained unaffected and the garrison forces while "not spearhead troops, are good soldiers nevertheless."

In the battle of Egypt, the western world's other active war theater, Axis troops had forced some rectification of their position before El Alamein "partially" re-establishing themselves on a coastal height, the hill of Jesus, as the British reported it.

In Vichy-Washington relations, closely related to the war in both Africa and Europe, the pro-Axis French government of Pierre Laval protested to Washington against assignment of American army and naval representatives to Free France, recently renamed Fighting France.

Vichy, referring to the Fighting Frenchmen as rebels, called the United States' assignment of military representatives to them "an attack on the sovereignty of France."

Admiral Harold R. Stark and Brig. Gen. Charles L. Bolte were named last week to consult in London with General Charles de Gaulle and his staff "on all matters relating to the conduct of the war."

The somewhat diminished Axis threat to Alexandria in the battle of Egypt made the fate of the nine French warships there a prime concern of the Allies. President Roosevelt had declared that the British would be justified in destroying the warships if the French refused to remove them to safe internment elsewhere.

Despite its potentialities, the war in Africa still played second fiddle to that in Russia.

Since launching their latest all-out effort in Russia on June 28, the Germans have won effective control of an additional 25,000 square miles of Russian territory—somewhat more than the area of West Virginia—although not all Russian forces therein have been mopped up.

Pressing two spearheads eastward from this bulge, the Germans threaten to crash on through to the Stalingrad elbow of the Volga river, less than 200 miles away. This would split the Caucasus and ease the way for direct penetrations into the (Continued on Page 3, Col. 1)

POISED: 50,000 Axis Troops In Crete Ready to Aid Rommel

(By United Press)
ISTANBUL, Turkey—(Delayed)—Fifty thousand German and Italian troops are concentrated in Crete, in the Mediterranean between Greece and Africa, to join the forces of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel for a drive on the Middle East, military sources said today.

The Germans, to conceal the steady flow of men to Crete from Greece, have resorted to repressive measures and many Greeks have been arrested and executed, it was asserted.

(Crete is 180 miles from the Italian base of Derna in Libya. It is only 90 miles from Italy's base of Rhodes in the Dodecanese islands, whence Axis troops might attack Cyprus preparatory to an attack on fighting French Syria.)

Many Axis troops and supplies already have been sent from Crete to Africa, informants said, about half of them in Junkers transport planes.

For several months there has been a flow of Axis troops, through Crete, it was added, and the number of troops based there has fluctuated between 10,000 and the present 50,000.

Now, it was said, all Greek war prisoners have been removed from Crete to make room for the Axis troops, divided about equally between Germans and Italians.

The troops now in Crete were believed to have been drawn from Yugoslavia and to have been in Greece for two weeks before they were sent on to the island. Two (Continued on Page 22, Col. 8)

CROSSROADS: Far East Lull Hints Japs Watching Russians

(Editor's Note: What is the meaning of the current lull in the Far Eastern war? Where will Japan attempt to strike next or will the Allies beat Tokyo to the punch? The following dispatch by the United Press manager at Chungking gives some of the answers, based on views of military authorities who have at their disposal complete reports of the Chinese intelligence service.

By ROBERT F. MARTIN
(UP Staff Correspondent)
CHUNGKING—Japan is at a crossroads in her campaign to conquer Asia and Chinese authorities believe that Tokyo may be forced to adopt a wait-and-see attitude pending decisive developments in Europe—especially in the battle of Russia.

There have been frequent unexpected moves by the Japanese in the years that I covered the China war at Shanghai and since I escaped from Japanese occupied territory to Chungking last winter, but a poll of informed sources today found attention centered on the possibility of a blow by Tokyo against the Soviet Union rather than in the south.

Authorities believe that, barring some unexpected development, the outlook for the next phase of warfare is as follows:

1. An invasion of Australia is out for the present. The Coral sea and Midway defeats, plus the growing strength of Allied forces in Australia make that too costly a prize to bid for now.

2. Japan will not attempt an immediate invasion of India. Anglo-American aerial protection is strong there and roads and other communications are (Continued on Page 3, Col. 7)

NAZIS ACQUIRE TWO FOOTHOLDS IN CAUCASUS

Battle For Voronezh Mounts In Fury; Axis Makes Slight Egypt Gain.

The North Caucasus is one of Russia's principal agricultural regions.

It repeated Axis reports are correct, the German advance through Boguchar has carried well beyond to the southeast. These advances last located the point of this spearhead at Nigulinsk, 160 miles northwest of Stalingrad, industrial capital of the lower Volga.

The Russians have acknowledged fighting southeast of Boguchar and in reporting loss of Millerovo admitted that fighting there had carried to the southeast. Millerovo, a link between Russia's northern and southern Caucasian armies, is 175 miles west of Stalingrad.

The British said today that a German light infantry regiment flown to North Africa from the Greek island of Crete had been incorporated in the force of Marshal Rommel before El Alamein, thus confirming previous reports to this effect.

It was suggested that the Allied watch over the seaways and bombardment of African ports had forced the Germans to ferry their reinforcements by air.

Rommel's qualified success at the hill of Jesus—Tel El Eisa—on Tuesday night may have reflected this new strength. Hardy Australian troops, however, continued to hold elevated positions in that crucial sector but were under steady pressure.

Evidently to relieve them, other imperial forces pushed forward yesterday in the central sector of the bottleneck front between the coast and the Qattara depression some 30 miles inland.

Land and aerial bombardment continued and a number of Axis tanks were knocked out, Cairo headquarters announced.

Allied airmen were smashing day and night at Rommel's airfields, front line positions, and supply bases far to the rear. Targets last night included Bengasi and Tobruk.

"Enemy bombing increased a little," the communiqué conceded.

The Germans declared that part of the dominating heights facing El Alamein, 70 miles west of Alexandria, had fallen to the Axis and that an Australian battalion staff had been captured. The Italians told of British attacks on the central sector and of immediate counter-attacks. They also claimed a British cruiser had been damaged in the Mediterranean by German and Italian airmen.

While the situation remained serious for the Russians in the South the Germans kept northern sectors active to prevent any possible diversions of Soviet troops to more critical points. Dispatches from the Bryansk area, 220 miles southwest of Moscow and about the same distance northwest of Don basin fighting, said that a more serious struggle was impending.

Voronezh, northern anchor of Russia's Don basin forces, was saved from a German encirclement attempt and Axis shock forces were repelled anew from its outlying streets. The staff headquarters of one Nazi division was reported destroyed in the Voronezh struggle.

The Berlin radio reported capture of 118,680 prisoners in the last two weeks of fighting in the Voronezh-Don sector and the high command reported further "pursuit battles," encirclements, and estimable Russian losses and strong German air attacks which reached to Rostov and "several ports on the Caucasus coast."

But that the Russians still held Voronezh was confirmed by the Berlin communiqué which said the Soviets were continuing strong tank attacks on the bridgehead of Voronezh. The Don is west of Voronezh.

Report Blitz On Don River Broken

MOSCOW — (NS) — Nazi Germany's attempted "blitz" offensive on the Don river front has definitely been broken, the Soviet army newspaper Red Star claimed today.

In the Kalinin sector as well, the official Soviet news agency Tass said, a number of German attacks during the last 24 hours were rolled back by the Soviet defenders.

The major force of Adolf Hitler's drive had exhausted itself against the steel wall of Soviet resistance and well-timed counter-attacks, Red Star said.

Moscow Claims 10 Axis Ships Sunk

MOSCOW — (NS) — Soviet divebombers surprised a convoy of small Axis ships in the Baltic and sank 10 of them, the Moscow radio said today. A number of other vessels in the convoy were damaged, the report added.

(The Exchange Telegraph company in London quoted the Moscow radio as stating that Soviet planes had sunk a German transport and blown up several ammunition dumps in an unnamed Axis harbor. Other Soviet planes, it was said, sank an enemy transport which was part of a convoy.)

PROBE CRASH

Army Authorities Investigate Accident That Killed Eight.

VALDOSTA, Ga. — (NS) — Army authorities today investigated the crash of four two-passenger training ships near Madison, Fla., yesterday which resulted in the death of seven British air cadets and one United States officer.

Officials said the four planes were making a routine training flight when they crashed. At least one of the planes burned, it was stated.

TRIES NEW PARK TRAFFIC SET-UP

Boals To Shift Stop Signals, Ban Left Turns In Move To End Congestion.

(Continued From Page 1) Boals explained that the traffic light to be eliminated operates in conjunction with lights at Main and North Park streets and Walnut street and Park avenue.

By removing the light, Boals believed there will be practically no effect on motor traffic coming through to the square because the traffic light gives the same signal to motorists entering from Main street or Park avenue.

He stated that pedestrians could cross while the red lights at Walnut and North Park streets were holding traffic back. He admitted that a few automobiles would need to be "cleared" but believed these would be too few to bother pedestrians.

The traffic commissioner said the prohibition of turns into Park avenue from Walnut street would help keep the Park avenue intersection with Central park open for pedestrians. He said this would prevent "stragglers" from endangering the lives of those on foot.

If the plan operates efficiently at the western end of the park, Boals also plans to remove the light at Diamond and Park avenue to Franklin avenue. Boals said that if this were done, a no turn west rule would be applied to traffic on Franklin at Park avenue past.

The traffic light now at Park avenue and Main street will be placed at the South Park-Diamond corner to help protect pedestrians, according to Boals.

SPIES NEARLY MADE ESCAPE

Evidence Shows They Waited at Station After Discovery By Coast Guardsman.

(Continued From Page 1) ject about 70 feet long was observed about 150 feet offshore and it was presumably a submarine. Cullen is reported to have heard the noise of powerful Diesel engines just offshore.

Fearing that an invasion attempt was about to be made on the coast, officials woke up other coast guardsmen and armed with rifles, they hurried to the beach but the Germans were gone.

The heavy fog swallowed up the ship and the noise died away, the statement said, with the sub heading off in an easterly direction.

Later, the searchers found four buried boxes of dynamite and other sabotage material, together with parts of uniforms which showed they belonged to the Nazis. The army and navy were notified and the boxes taken to the coast guard barge which arrived in New York. It was not until after that time, the coast guard said, that the FBI was notified.

While the sabotage trial entered its eighth day with the prospect it would not end until late next week, justice department officials planned to announce sometime in the day how they will prosecute 14 alleged "contacts" of the spies who have been apprehended. The decision was reached in conferences between Attorney General Francis Biddle and Wendell Berge, head of the justice department's criminal division.

Neither would discuss their plans, but it was reported that civil court trials will be ordered.

MISSING GIRL HUNT GOES ON

Sheriff Investigates New Report In Disappearance.

Sheriff Frank E. Robinson and his deputies continued their search today for 13-year-old Alice Dillon who disappeared from her home near Lucas last Saturday night.

The sheriff said he was investigating a report that an 18-year-old youth, known to be a friend of the girl, also has been missing since Sunday from his home in the same community.

The girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dillon, live at Lucas, R. D. 1. They described the girl as having light hair and blue eyes and wearing a purple flowered dress. She wore a tape over an injury on her nose.

Blasting Message for Hitler

Expressing the sentiments of his shipmates and millions of others, a determined Coast Guardsman puts his message on the depth charge he is ready to drop overboard to blast another Axis submarine out of action. This took place while the Coast Guard boat was on patrol duty in the North Atlantic.

Retail Stores Open $35,000 Bond-Stamp Drive Tomorrow

Calene reported today that 142 business establishments including 62 volunteer members of the Square Deal chain and 80 downtown stores are taking part in the campaign.

In addition to the sales over counters inside the stores, Calene has urged the stores to place bonds and stamps on sale in special booths on the street in front of the stores.

Reports of the progress of the sales will be supplied through loudspeakers on a truck which will circulate through the business area. Forty Girl Scouts will act as couriers keeping the operators of the truck informed on latest sales reports.

USO to Open New Rooms for Service Men In 'Y' Sept. 1

(Continued From Page 1) Calene, president, said service men would also be permitted to use such facilities as the swimming pool and showers and also the gymnasium for special parties and dances.

The canteen proper will be equipped with reading and writing facilities, playing cards and other equipment, including a cookie jar from which the boys may help themselves.

Mrs. Frank H. Maxwell, whose physician-husband had been a captain in the army medical corps, has been appointed by the canteen committee to organize a corps of women to supervise daily activities.

Mrs. A. J. Goldsmith, Msgr. R. C. Goebel and John Rountzon, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, are other members of the canteen committee, headed by Jane Williams.

The club will be financed at first with the sum of $2,600 retained in the county U. S. O. treasury after the drive last year, since the current campaign did not yield the $2,000 anticipated by the organization for that purpose.

While the county organization expects to reach the quota of $26,000 set up by the national organization after Shelby's contribution is received the 10 per cent added to the quota by the county unit for local canteen maintenance was not revealed.

Patrol Tags Six More Drivers on Speeding Charge

Still ignoring the tire problem and pleas for gasoline conservation, six of seven motorists arrested by state highway patrolmen yesterday and today were charged with speeding.

Five of the seven offending drivers were arrested on various sections of U. S. Route 42.

Charged with speeding on Route 42 near Ashland last night Robert Lunn, 41, of Cleveland, was fined $10 and costs by Ashland Police Judge Harold E. Andrews and Edwin W. Heiser, 28, of Lancaster, paid $10 and costs on the same charge.

David Polstein, 35, of Akron, was also fined $10 and costs for speeding on Route 42 by Justice of the Peace J. H. Willes of Lexington. Another speeder, Christ Wolf, 21, of Cleveland, paid a similar fine in Mayor C. L. Booher's court at Mt. Gilead.

Arrested by patrolmen early this morning for speeding on U. S. Route 42, James A. Harris, 35, of Newark R. D. posted $16.30 bond and waived appearance in municipal court. Paul E. Swank, 19, of Shelby was fined $5 and costs in Mayor W. R. Morris' court at Shelby for speeding on State Route 544 yesterday.

One motorist, Leslie L. Sigars, 28, of Crestline, was charged with failure to observe a stop sign on U. S. Route 30-S this morning and was cited to appear in municipal court next Monday morning.

LODGE CAUTIONS PEOPLE AGAINST WAR IMPATIENCE

Says United Nations Recoil Like Big Guns Before Launching Blows.

(Editor's Note: Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, jr., (R., Mass.), in the following article for International News Service, the second in a series of three—cautions the American people against impatience for victory in the war.)

By HENRY CABOT LODGE, JR., U. S. Senator from Massachusetts, Major in Army Reserves, and Member of Senate Military Affairs Committee.

(Written Exclusively for International News Service.)

WASHINGTON — Our army and navy high command are thoroughly familiar with the road to victory that lies ahead. They know what needs to be done and how it should be done to wipe Hitler and his gang of world aggressors off the map.

While I have spent 17 years in military training, and recently participated in the war in Egypt and Libya as a major of our armored forces, I do not profess to be a master strategist on war. But I have seen the war first hand and I have had many conferences with our highest army and navy officers.

They are fully informed down to minute details of what is going on at the various battlefronts, and they are taking the necessary steps to assure victory ultimately.

The United Nations have been losing battles in this world-girdling war. Like a big gun they have recoiled, and the might of America's force will spring the gun with a series of devastating blows.

All of this takes time—precious time to prepare. One of the first things to be done is to deal successfully with the submarine menace. Until we do that we cannot get maximum striking power outside our own borders.

Our people should guard against impatience against the day when the United States and Britain strike on land against the Nazis. Whenever there is a set-back for our side in some sector of the war, people say we should rush troops there, not realizing that our high command must view the war as a whole. It takes time—much time—to move any large number of men and weapons to a battle scene.

Remember that the United States did not begin to prepare in a big way until the fall of France in May, 1940, and that Hitler and his gangsters have been plotting their assault upon the world ever since the end of the last war.

And with all of our production and training of soldiers, we must have enough ships to transport them and their equipment.

But we have one big advantage. Our army is building fast and our men are the most self-reliant in the world.

First of 2 Murder Trials Scheduled To Start July 27

Trial of John Johnson, colored, accused of second degree murder in the fatal stabbing of his estranged wife, Mary, was set to start Monday, July 27, before Judge C. H. Huston in common pleas court.

As soon as the trial is completed, three other criminal cases will be heard, according to C. A. McKinley, county assignment clerk. They involve Miss Corinne Stewart, colored, and Reuben Payne, charged with cutting with intent to wound, and John Bonner, colored, accused of shooting with intent to wound.

The county petit jury will hear the cases unless the defendants waive the jury, McKinley said.

In the case of Ernest Moore, 19, former Mansfield reformatory inmate who is held for first degree murder, it will be necessary to draw a special jury, the assignment clerk said. No date has been set for Moore's trial. He was indicted on a charge of stabbing a fellow inmate, Charles Dickerson, 31, of Licking county.

It also retained a ban against using OPA funds for subsidies to business to enforce price ceilings.

But it let Henderson retain a free hand in making appointments and removed some proposed new restrictions on his authority to fix price ceilings for processed farm commodities.

On the farm price question it merely related existing law providing that farm prices could not be fixed below 110 per cent of parity and that price ceilings for processed farm commodities reflect the 110 per cent of parity to the original grower.

The senate expected to reach a final vote on the bill today.

JAP CONQUESTS AT CROSSROADS

Tokyo Expected To Adopt Wait-and-See Policy Toward Siberia.

(Continued From Page 1) poor, so the Japanese may prefer to permit Indian nationalists and Britain to squabble until the nation is weakened and invasion is made easier.

3. Japan will not attempt immediately to knock China out of the war. They will continue trying to disperse major Chinese forces in central China to consolidate their hold against a possible Allied offensive and to capture important "Bomb Tokyo" air bases.

4. An offensive against Siberia is most logical as the next big Japanese move. It is a prime Japanese objective as one of the last jumping off points for a major Allied air and land counter-offensive.

Two big factors support the Japanese belief that a Russian offensive is favored by the Japanese over an attempted Chinese cleanup. The first is that Japan may be urged by Axis partners to exert pressure on Russia's eastern door whether the Nipponese are ready or not. This may come about due to the threat of a second Allied front in western Europe or another winter stalemate on the Russian front.

The second is that China is not as great an offensive threat against Japan as Russia. A land-based Allied offensive from China would be extremely difficult because of poor communication facilities and the imperative need for enormous quantities of supplies which the Chinese now lack.

On the other hand, the Japanese must proceed with extreme caution. They are outflanked by enemies or potential enemies. They lack sufficiently trained manpower and aerial reserves to move against all of them—particularly China and Russia—at the same time, and yet they are afraid to leave one sector unguarded while they concentrate their forces to eliminate another.

Japan is strong enough, however, to maintain a status quo supremacy on the land in the areas that troops now occupy and if no desperate venture is tried elsewhere, Japan might remain indefinitely behind its naval screen in the Pacific.

Japan, military observers here believe, has settled down to wait and see while building reserves at home, strengthening perimeter defenses, eliminating such Chinese resistance as will not require too great an expense of manpower and equipment, and preparing for the eventual attack on Siberia.

SHIPBUILDING HITTING STRIDE

Admiral Reports Shipyards to Pass Goal In 1943.

WASHINGTON — (NS) — Merchant shipbuilding today is hitting the stride demanded by President Roosevelt early this year for two-year production capacity of 2,300 big, ocean-going vessels.

Rear Admiral Howard L. Vickery, vice chairman of the maritime commission, said that newly constructed shipyards will boost total production for 1943 to at least 23,000,000 deadweight tons, 2,000,000 above the president's two-year goal.

Canada's manufacturing is centered in Ontario and western Quebec.

Everyone has a right to his own opinion—on subjects about which he is fully informed.

Production of alarm clocks has been stopped—just at a time when some folks seem to need one very badly.

The North African see-saw has finally brought out the almost inescapable paraphrase, "Life, Libya and the pursuit of Rommel."

Russia Must Not Be Defeated

WHEN, a little more than a year ago, there was an impression in the United States that Hitler would conquer Russia within a few weeks, there was small understanding of either Russia's determination and fighting power or of the effect that Nazi success in that area would have on other phases of the war.

Then it was a matter of divided opinion in this country, not only as to association with Russia in the war effort but also as to the position which the United States should take as a non-belligerent.

Now the whole picture is changed. The United States is in the war and it is becoming more generally recognized, and admitted, that the outcome of the bitter struggle in Russia, as well as that in North Africa, has a direct bearing on the future of America and is of vital concern to every man, woman and child in this country.

While recent Nazi advances in Russia have indicated superior strength, this cannot be taken for granted, as Soviet military procedure is somewhat similar to that of the Axis powers in its secretiveness and is not the wide-open book, with revealing articles and pictures, which people in "more enlightened" countries appear to regard as proper "public information."

What is badly needed in Russia at the moment is an increasing flow of military equipment and also diversion of Axis forces to a "second front" in western Europe.

Difficulties and risks involved in immediately establishing a land offensive in Europe are not minimized and it becomes a matter of deciding on the moment when there can be no further delay—which may not be until Japan makes an aggressive move on Siberia, in the hope of weakening Russia's defense against Nazi invaders.

What should be fully realized by people in the United States is that victory for Russia is as important here as there.

Taxpayers Should Express Views

WITH taxes a tremendously growing burden on every citizen in the United States, the people should take an increasing interest in all affairs of government.

Taking an interest in the affairs of government does not mean to merely sit back and complain after assessments have been levied. Instead, study the legitimate needs of government and sift them out of the thousand and one purely political items that have crept into public budgets.

The people should begin talking to or writing to their city councils, their local school boards, their county courts, their tax commissions, their state legislatures—and last, but not least, their congressmen and senators who are levying taxes which are taking the lion's share of the tax payments of every individual, every business and every industry.

Your congressmen are anxious to know what you think about various measures proposed which deflate your pocket-book. They cannot know if you never express your opinions. A postcard message from a man on the soil, a workman in an industry or a small businessman struggling to meet tax problems, is the best index of public thinking. There should be sacrifice and economy in government, just as there is sacrifice and economy and scrimping in every home.

Let your public officials know how you feel on legislative and taxation policies that affect every job, every industry and every dime of savings. The future of representative government is in the hands of the people in more ways than one. Remember, you are the government. Don't expect it to be any better than the thought you contribute to it.

Limiting Hospital Visitors

PROPOSED further restrictions on visiting hours at Mansfield General hospital, with less time permitted for visiting patients, may not only serve to reduce the work of nurses and attendants but may also prove beneficial to patients.

Always with the best of intentions, it is an unfortunate trait of some people to grossly overdo hospital visitation, both in volubility and length of stay.

This applies particularly in wards and semi-private rooms, where other patients are frequently disturbed by over-loud chatter of thoughtless persons visiting a convalescent patient in the same ward or room.

The habit of being sure in advance that a hospital patient wishes to have friends call—and then making the visit brief, with a small amount of low-voiced but cheerful talk—is to be commended.

Negro Scientist Honored

A NEGRO has just been called "the agricultural man of the year," and by a southern paper, too. Dr. George W. Carver, director of the department of agricultural research at Tuskegee, has received this recognition from an Alabama farm journal for his work in behalf of southern agriculture. Working on new by-products of sweet potatoes and peanuts, he is to continue his research for the Ford company.

Negroes should know something about farming. Apart from their work in the south, for unknown centuries they have practiced agriculture in Africa, one of the most fertile continents in the world. Given a chance and a scientific training such as that possessed by Dr. Carver, they should make valuable contributions to agricultural life.

One critic advances the idea that a $25,000 top on salaries "would put the brains of the country back on its heels"—but it sometimes seems that "heels" are profiting at the expense of "brains."

There's a farm bloc, a silver bloc, a labor bloc, and some other blocs in congress—each under direction of a bloc head.

Word drifting through from occupied territory is that Hitler shows no inclination to respect "social gains."

Fat waists waste fats.

THE GERMAN-AMERICAN BUND

Davis and Nelson Methods Differ

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—As I've previously had occasion to remark, Elmer Davis, rather recently appointed director of the Office of War Information, an old acquaintance of mine, never seemed to me to be particularly hard-boiled.

If I'd been looking for about a 30-minute egg, I'd have picked Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the War Production Board.

From latest indications I judge I guessed correctly.

Elmer had a little disagreement with the war department the other day and lost out—in the opening skirmish, at least. Donald told both the war and navy departments where to get off and make his ukase stick, at least up to date.

When a military court started to try that octet of Nazi spies and saboteurs caught by Uncle Sam's coast guard and secret service a short while ago, Elmer, as a publicity man, felt that his organization ought to cover the proceedings. Accordingly he assigned a competent reporter to attend 'em. The scribe, arriving at the outer portal, couldn't get in. Elmer complained and was told to "go chase himself."

If it had been the case of an ordinary newspaperman, this might not have been so peculiar, but it did seem a bit queer for a government agent to be so unceremoniously barred out.

Never mind that, though.

Nelson Tells 'Em.

We come now to the Donald Nelson matter.

Donald's job is to allocate supplies of our products between the army and navy and civiliandom. The army and navy want 'em all. Donald's contention is that a modicum have to be left over for civil consumers, if only as a basis for keeping fighting forces in the field and at sea. The army and navy told him to go chase himself, too.

"Nix," quoth Donald, and he's getting away with it.

He's expressed himself in interviews and before congressional committees and the army and navy aggregations meekly submitted.

Donald's version is that his authority is directly from the president, who's commander-in-chief of the armed forces.

Twenty Years Ago Today

Sunday, July 16, 1922.

Mansfield visitors to Cedar Point reported "one of the largest crowds of the year" at that lake resort.

It was announced that Richland county Catholic churches had been transferred from Cleveland to Toledo diocese.

Mrs. James Barrett and daughter Florence left for a visit in Wilmington, Del.

Rev. J. E. Zimmerman preached farwell sermon at St. Mark's Lutheran church, before going to Wapakoneta.

John W. Ryan, one of original guards at reformatory, resigned after 26 years of service.

Son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Leo D. Wright, Park avenue west.

L. N. Loisel, former Mansfield baker, was here from Albuquerque, N. M., for a visit.

Today in History

Of considerable strategic importance during the Revolution, Stony Point, a rocky promontory which juts out into the Hudson river, was recovered from the British on this date in 1779 by Gen. Anthony Wayne in command of about 1,350 picked American troops. The Americans had no thought of holding the position and evacuated it not long after.

the whole thing. It's true, but Elmer's authority is from the same source. Why isn't he as authoritative as Don Nelson?

There may be several varying explanations.

One is, as I've suggested, that Elmer isn't boiled hard enough.

No. 1—Perhaps he lacks experience. Donald has been in the game for quite awhile. Maybe he knows already how ugly he can and can't afford to be and Elmer hasn't found out yet.

No. 3—Possibly our secret service doesn't want to reveal how shrewd it is at spotting spies and saboteurs.

No. 4—The evidence may be "too hot to hold."

And there are more imaginable explanations.

The army though, is somewhat hazy on the subject of secrecy. Lots of the news it wants to keep under cover would be dandy publicity.

Elmer Davis knows it.

There probably are plenty of Nazi spies in the country who ought to be caught yet, but advertising 'em shouldn't be bad business. Elmer Davis' stunt is running 'em down. "Hush-hush," is the war department's policy.

Secrecy a Warning.

It may be that the still loose guys will be tipped off and make a get-away unless they're warned—but why warn 'em, as they will be by so much so-called secrecy? It really isn't secrecy, because the more secretive it is the more it's advertising.

The fact is that Elmer, with his broadcasts, is the ideal person to scare the enemy.

Let him publicize a fine batch of 'em as having been executed and it'll make 'em thoughtful. Suppress the news and it'll make no impression. How well profit by coking Elmer up is a problem.

You'd think that the system would be to yowl it in head-letters.

But what do war departments know about publicity?

And where does that leave our American educational scheme?

How much do our young Americans know of the cause for which they fight and of the vision on which their land was founded? How deeply do they understand America's place in history, its effect upon the human race? How much are they committed to the theory of democracy? They're game scrappers, yes. They enter into the conflict with courage, humor and amazing understanding of the complicated machine which they manipulate. As individuals, the world has never seen their like.

BUT AS AMERICANS, ARE THEY OR ANY OF US ENDOWED WITH THE FIRE WHICH ANIMATES THE JAPANESE SUICIDE SQUADS OR THE GERMAN BUTCHERS? AND IF THEY AREN'T, WHOSE FAULT IS IT? WAS IT JUST POSSIBLE THAT THE "LITTLE RED SCHOOLHOUSE" DID A BETTER JOB AT PREPARING AMERICANS THAN OUR HIGHLY SOPHISTICATED EDUCATORS ARE DOING TODAY?

Our Modern Schools

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

IN 82 PER CENT of our American colleges the study of United States history is not required. An appalling number of students complete college without taking any American history courses.

These figures, the result of a nation-wide survey, should give considerable pause to any serious citizen.

We have, without a doubt, the most elaborate and expensive educational system in any modern nation—a fact which many a taxpayer views with pride and pain-in-the-neck. For just what dividends do these magnificent buildings and equipment produce?

And where does that leave our American educational scheme?

Midway Battle Losses Hamper Japs In Making Planned Pacific Moves

—By LOUIS F. KEEMLE

THE FULL EXTENT of Japan's naval loss in the Midway island battle, now revealed by the navy, coupled with the earlier losses in the Coral sea, make it seem improbable that the Japanese will be able to strike in mid-Pacific again for some time.

Since the start of the war, according to the Washington compilation, Japanese warships sunk or damaged total 149, which includes the impressive figure of 54 cruisers, 39 destroyers and 10 aircraft carriers. The Japanese may not have had more than 15 carriers.

although conversions and secret construction make estimates uncertain.

It therefore seems unlikely that the Japanese will be able to assemble an invasion fleet of the size used in the Midway battle in the near future.

Naval experts believed Japan has concentrated most of what remains of her fleet in the North Pacific. Her venture into the Aleutian islands and the massing of troops, mechanized equipment and airplanes in Manchukuo indicates that her next major move may be in the north.

DEVELOPMENTS in the Aleutians are cloaked in mystery almost as impenetrable as the fog that shrouds the islands, but the meager information available indicates that the Japanese move is on a fairly large scale and that the enemy is attempting to increase her strength in the Aleutians.

Japan's purpose, some observers believe, is to protect her flank against the United States for an attack on Siberia.

It is obvious that the Japanese, like Hitler, are almost impelled to make a major war move this year, because growing Allied strength, particularly of the United States, greatly lessens the chance of success in 1943.

EARLY victory in the China war, now in its sixth year, does not seem probable. The Chinese report that they actually are getting more supplies by Allied transport than they used to get over the Burma road. China also is calling up 6,000,000 more men to increase her armies to 26,000,000.

It would seem good strategy for the Japanese to move into Siberia, where they have good prospects of success. The time to do it would be now, when Russia is exerting every ounce of her strength and resources to stem Hitler in European Russia.

It is not likely that Russia would be able to divert an army from the western front to defend Siberia. If she did, Hitler might prevail and Russia would be crushed between Germany and Japan.

It is not likely that Russia would be able to divert an army from the western front to defend Siberia. If she did, Hitler might prevail and Russia would be crushed between Germany and Japan.

Japan's purpose, some observers believe, is to protect her flank against the United States for an attack on Siberia.

It is obvious that the Japanese, like Hitler, are almost impelled to make a major war move this year, because growing Allied strength, particularly of the United States, greatly lessens the chance of success in 1943.

EARLY victory in the China war, now in its sixth year, does not seem probable. The Chinese report that they actually are getting more supplies by Allied transport than they used to get over the Burma road. China also is calling up 6,000,000 more men to increase her armies to 26,000,000.

It would seem good strategy for the Japanese to move into Siberia, where they have good prospects of success. The time to do it would be now, when Russia is exerting every ounce of her strength and resources to stem Hitler in European Russia.

French Ships May Be Destroyed As Result of Laval's Attitude

—By DE WITT MACKENZIE

PIERRE LAVAL, pro-Hitler chief of the Vichy French government, appears to have maneuvered himself into an uncomfortable position by his uncompromising attitude toward President Roosevelt in the matter of the nine French warships at Alexandria, Egypt.

The president made two proposals to Laval for the removal of the warships from this threatened naval base to a safe haven. The French sailors were to be repatriated immediately.

and the ships were to be returned to France after the war. It was a friendly offer, quite as beneficial to France as to the rest of the Allies.

But Laval rejected the suggestions and countered with the absurd request that the ships be delivered to a French port in the Mediterranean. This, of course, would keep these valuable fighting machines within possible Nazi grasp. That Laval was acting under German influence is patent. It may easily be that he had orders direct from Hitler.

With the second rejection, Mr. Roosevelt informed Laval that in his view the British would be warranted in destroying the French ships to keep them from falling into Axis hands.

The British probably will do just that, unless they adopt the alternative of removing the ships through the Suez canal to a safe place. Thus Laval in one nasty gesture has widened the breach between his government and the Allies, who have persisted in trying to help France despite his attitude, and he has created the possibility of losing his ships to boot.

For the first time in history, one of our insular possessions—Puerto Rico—has hired a "public relations counsel." He is John Lear, former Associated Press correspondent who for more than two years has been concentrating on the Latin American scene.

Lear is now a government employee in the position of salary stipulated in the budget of the governor of Puerto Rico, that well known New Dealer of depression days, Rexford Guy Tugwell.

John certainly has his work cut out for him. Few weeks pass when Bolivar Pagan, the R. R. resident commissioner, or some one else doesn't write into the Congressional Record an essay on the general theme "why the people of Puerto Rico don't want Tugwell for governor."

The political situation in our "Gibraltar of the Caribbean" is quite a mess. If it straightens out, you can bet on it that Alaska, Hawaii and the Philippines will also be asking for "public relations counsels."

THE taxi drivers of Washington are almost as famous as the Monument. You'll get their life histories, political opinions, and comments of the day quicker than you can pass a zone line. They may be anything from Harvard graduates to pre-appeal run-runners, and in either instance, proud of it.

Tops on the dumb side of the ledger came the other day from the slightly blank-looking back driver who went white when he saw the headlines of a newspaper his customer had just purchased.

"What," he screamed, "the nazis are 60 miles from Alexandria? I gotta get home, Alexandria's (Va.) where I live."

A Farmer's Diary

'Plain Farm Woman'

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

ALONG a country road I greeted an old woman who was planting flower seeds at the corner of the lawn, near the highway. She wore a plain dark dress with long skirt and sleeves, and her hair was twisted in a high white roll. Her hands were large and fat, fingers bent at the ends, fit well about the handle of the hoe.

"Are you all alone?" I asked her.

"No—not exactly.

SEES NEW ACT AIDING FARMERS

Farm Loan Official Points To Provisions on Interest Under Latest Set-Up.

More than 400 Richland county farmers with federal loans totaling approximately a million dollars will benefit from a recent legislative act which continues the three and a half per cent interest rate on Federal Land bank and Land Bank Commissioner loans for two years, Vance Clever, secretary-treasurer of the Richland County National Farm Loan association, said today. The legislation will provide a reduced interest rate of four per cent for a similar time to farmers who purchased land from the Federal Land bank or Federal Farm Mortgage corporation, Clever explained. Clever pointed out that farmers who obtained Federal Land bank loans as far back as 20 years ago paid from four to six per cent interest on them, while they now will be required to pay only three and a half per cent on both old and new loans. "Although the contract rate for Federal Land bank and Land Bank Commissioner loans held by Richland county borrowers ranges from four to six per cent, the actual rate they pay is only three and a half per cent," he said. "Borrowers who have future payment funds under a plan whereby money can be placed in reserve for later use, will continue to receive three and a half per cent interest on the cash in their reserves, the same rate they pay on their loans," he added. Sugar is the purest form of energy known.

MAKE GAMES

BOSTON—UP—Sailors, soldiers, coast guardsmen and marines are playing games of checkers, cribbage, table tennis and chess—all made by Massachusetts state prison inmates. Prisoners in other state penal institutions—even women in Framingham Reformatory—soon will join the state prison inmates in producing the games. The program resulted from a suggestion by the state prison chaplain that convicts were eager to help the war effort.

EDGAR KOEHL HEADS ASHLAND RATION BOARD

Named Chairman of New War Price and Rationing Set-Up in County.

ASHLAND — Edgar Koehl of Ashland has been elected chairman of the new War Price and Rationing board which will replace rationing boards of Ashland, Hayesville and Polk.

The new rationing board was named by the County Defense Council and includes in addition to Koehl, Common Pleas Judge H. E. Culbertson, P. M. Chrisman, Joseph Grundy, Newton Mansfield, and Floyd Knapp of Ashland, William G. McKee, Ashland; Richard McCrory of Hayesville, and Earl Gribben of Polk.

H. E. Eichelberger, former mayor of Ashland, has been recommended for appointment as executive secretary.

Newton Mansfield has served as county rationing co-ordinator since last January. There were five rationing boards throughout the county, four of which are absorbed in the new nine-man rationing board. The fifth rationing board, the Loudonville board, will be supplanted by a nine-man rationing board and will administer the Office of Price Administration in Loudonville, Hanover and Green townships.

The new rationing boards will operate through three-man panels. Membership has been set up in the Ashland board as follows: Tires, automobiles, bicycles, typewriters, Chrisman, Gribben and McKee; Sugar and commodities, Koehl, Grundy and McCrory; Price ceilings, rents, Culbertson, Knapp and Mansfield.

ASHLAND — E. W. Stuffer of Ashland, county chairman of the Victory Fund committee to promote the sales of Series F and G War Savings bonds, has named the following committee to assist him: Harold E. Andrews, Jr., E. E. Brown, H. M. Clark, Stanley Hiner, H. F. Walcott, E. P. Helbert, C. F. Crain, C. E. Enck, Edgar Koehl, Jacob Jacobson, J. C. Murphy, Alpha B. Rogers, C. C. Sherrick and L. W. Rybolt of Ashland; J. O. Arnold, George Cook and Eugene Miller of Loudonville; John Kauffman of Polk; Gerald Rice of Sullivan and C. J. Weber of Perryville.

UNUSUAL NAMES
FOR SILL. Okla.—(U.P.)—Four Indian soldiers of pure Sioux ancestry now are taking basic training with the army in the field artillery replacement training center at Fort Sill.

The Indians, from Rosebud, S. D., have the unusual names of Pvt. Anthony Omaha Boy, Pvt. Narcisse M. Sharpfish, Pvt. Paul V. Yellow Cloud, and Pvt. Melvin F. Yellow Cloud; the latter two are cousins.

Dramatic Story.
Lillian Hellman's drama, "The Little Foxes," at the Park, gives Bette Davis the role of a scheming southern woman who stops at nothing to satisfy her greed. Herbert Marshall plays the banker-husband who is victimized by the wife. Teresa Wright of the New York stage appears as the daughter, and the cast includes Richard Carlson and Dan Duryea. "Jungle Man," with Larry "Buster" Crabbe, is the co-feature.

The Dominican Republic occupies two-thirds of the island of Hispaniola. Haiti occupies the other third.

HOPE TO BUY DISASTER SUPPLIES WITH PROCEEDS OF CARD BENEFIT

More than 170 nurses and Nurses' Aids are working to create a fund that can be used to buy medical supplies in time of disaster by assuming the responsibility of the ticket sale for the benefit card party to be held Wednesday night, July 22, at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Sponsored by the auxiliary of the Richland County Medical society, the party will be given to aid the medical division of civilian defense and the receipts kept in a reserve fund until needed. In the event they are not used the fund will be turned over to a worthy organization after the war, Miss Faye Chamberlain, ticket chairman, said.

Ticket sellers have been divided into seven divisions with a major in charge of each group and these include Mrs. Corinne Mowry and Mrs. Max Mecurio for the Nurses' Aids, and the following majors for the registered nurses, Mrs. C. B. McCarthy, Mrs. Marjorie Davies, Mrs. W. G. Fort, Mrs. Paul Wier, and Mrs. William Russell.

Mansfield merchants are donating prizes for the event and the Mansfield-Leland management has donated the use of the ballroom. War savings stamps will be the table prizes.

Mrs. H. T. Stiles, auxiliary president, is chairman of the general committee, and other committee members include Mrs. Leopold Adams, Mrs. W. C. Fort, prizes, and Mrs. Howard Peck, cards and tallies.

MAXINE BUSH HONORED WITH SPINSTER PARTY

Mother, Sister of Prospective Bridegroom Entertain Wednesday Evening; Decorations Are Unusual and Appropriate.

SPINSTER PARTY for Miss Maxine Bush, who will become the bride Sunday of Pvt. Robert Lantz of the Marine Corps, was given last evening by the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Harry Lantz, and his sister, Mrs. Harry Lytle. Scene of the party was the Lantz home, 254 South Mulberry street.

Twenty guests spent the evening reminiscing. Their comments were recorded and the records were presented to Miss Bush. The honoree also was directed by a recording to the places where personal gifts for her had been hidden.

Victory Fan Designed To Keep You Cool

Keeping cool during the hot days ahead, presents a greater problem this year than in former summers. Women are staying close to home. In past years the family has packed off to the lake, to the shore, to the mountains, for a change of scenery. But this year they find they must stay on the home front, for mother works at the local hospital as a nurse's aid, daughter reports to the U.S.O. to do her share, father is active in the air warden service. Even day trips to the beach are being curtailed due to rubber and gasoline conservation. America is getting back to the fundamentals of walking and bicycling, of spending leisure time in the home.

With even electric fans on the priorities list, it's good news that one of the well known cosmetics companies has created a Victory Fan to help us keep cool. Compact enough to fit into the over-loaded handbag or coat pocket, this fan pictures the ten freedoms—ten reasons why we must win this war, ten incentives to buy United States war bonds and stamps. The fan also gives various ways in which women may adapt their simple, everyday tasks to share in the contribution toward victory.

The opening panel gives the true spirit of American women. "We, the women of America . . . In freedom we work. In freedom we live. To keep ourselves free, We're ready to give," is the way the fan expresses it.

And these Victory Fans are given free to every person purchasing one of the company's attractive cylinders of talcum, either in a refreshing, tangy, spicy scent, or in a light, floral bouquet fragrance. The fine, silky talcum will help women keep cool, refreshed and dainty. Tired, over-worked feet will be soothed by a warm foot bath, followed by a dusting of the smooth powder.

This year, more than ever, keeping cool physically as well as mentally is important in our everyday life, and we women will want to take advantage of everything which will help us in maintaining a calm, feminine outlook.

The 850-mile-long Rhine has its source in the glaciers of the Swiss Alps.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

CONVENTION REPORT GIVEN AT MEETING

Guild Members Tell About Conference In Akron for Women's Missionary Society Program at Church.

HOSTESSES for the meeting of the Women's Missionary society of the United Presbyterian church in the church parlors Wednesday afternoon, were Mrs. Berta Newcomer, Mrs. George Riel and Miss Maude Stewart, members of the program committee.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Eva Miller. Mrs. E. D. Craig, president, conducted the business session. The meeting was attended by 15 members and three guests. Mrs. Lynn Robenstine, Miss Jeanette Martin and Mrs. Frank Leavitt, who belong to the church guild. The visitors presented the program in the form of a report on the Women's General Missionary society convention which was held June 19 through 23 in Akron.

Refreshments were served buffet style from a long table attractively decorated with garden flowers. Plans for the next meeting are incomplete and will be announced later.

COMMITTEE ELECTS.

The Alumni committee of the Women of the Moose met last evening at the Moose home with 11 members present. Mrs. Susan Jochia, the new chairman, was in charge. Officers elected were: Mrs. Catherine Stutzinger, secretary; Mrs. Barbara Kozik, treasurer; and Mrs. Lola Raby, reporter. The group planned the year's activities. Lutheran Church Districts Hold Three Meetings

Yesterday noon three districts of the First Lutheran church held their regular monthly meetings. Fourth District held a picnic at Middle park for the 13 members present. During the business meeting it was decided by the women that they would take an active part in Red Cross work. The two guests were Mrs. Mover, Mrs. Lucas, and Mrs. Dora Veach. The next meeting will be a picnic dinner August 19 at Middle park.

The committee in charge of the picnic for the Third District were Mrs. H. W. Johns, Mrs. Andrew Wingert, Mrs. Clarence Marks and Mrs. George Biddle. Forty members and guests, Rev. and Mrs. Grover E. Swoyer, Mrs. Jacob Sheriff and Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, were present.

At the business session it was voted that the members would go every Thursday afternoon to the Red Cross headquarters to do sewing. Next meeting will be August 19, place to be announced. Hostesses will be Mrs. James Stewart, Mrs. John Boffler and Mrs. Fred Leitz.

The Second District held their meeting at the parish house. Approximately 25 members and two guests attended. Luncheon was served with the following hostesses in charge: Mrs. C. C. Hout, Mrs. Elmer Balliett and Mrs. Thomas McConnell. On August 19 a picnic has been planned at the Schrack cottage, Millsboro road. Hostesses for that time will be Mrs. Philo Phifer, Mrs. G. H. Schrack, Mrs. Harry Simmons and Mrs. Harvey Klinefelter.

CLASS ENTERTAINED

An outdoor picnic was enjoyed by members and guests of the Dorcas class of the St. Matthew's Lutheran church, Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Brenner, 605 Crescent road. Mrs. Grace Myers conducted the devotions and Mrs. Carl Willis presided for the business session. Croquet and rook were played. Prize winner was Mrs. Charles Newlon. The next meeting will be an evening picnic at North Lake park Aug. 11.

DELUXE PINOCCHIO CLUB.

Deluxe Pinocchio club met yesterday at the home of Mrs. L. L. Stichter, Park avenue east. Prize winners were Mrs. Walter Mapes, and Mrs. Amanda Hurry with the pinocchio prize going to Mrs. Mapes. The next meeting will be July 29, place to be announced.

CLASS PICNIC CANCELED.

The picnic for the graduating class of 1935, scheduled for July 19, has been cancelled as too many members are absent from Mansfield.

CAROL ETZWILER HONORED.

A birthday party was given recently in honor of Carol Etwiler on her fifth birthday. Guests present were: Edward Stickrod, Dianna Stickrod, Ronnie Horvath, Phyllis Ann Prosser, Janice Swigart and Marcella Biddle. Games were played with prizes going to Phyllis Ann and Janice. Refreshments were served.

AT M'GINTY HOME.

There were 14 mothers and 24 children in attendance Wednesday when the Child Guidance club had a picnic on the lawn at the home of Mrs. L. R. McGinty, Vennum avenue. Games were enjoyed by the youngsters following the noon dinner. Plans were made to have a family picnic at the same place in the evening of Aug. 14.

Make Your Own Salad Dressings

By BETSY NEWMAN
EAT PLENTY of green and yellow vegetables, raw and cooked, we are advised. They contain vitamin A and all sorts of other good things to keep us fit and jolly.

Today's Menu
Steamed Canned Salmon
Green Peas Mixed Green Salad
Fresh Berries
Whole Wheat Scones Tea

Turn tin of canned salmon into top part of double boiler or into steamer, and steam over hot water until hot through. Turn onto hot platter, and surround with hot buttered green peas.

Spicy French Dressing
1 tsp. grated onion.
1/2 cup honey
1 tsp. salt
1/2 c. tomato catsup
1 c. salad oil
1 c. vinegar

Combine onion, honey and salt in mixing bowl or quart jar, stir in tomato catsup, add oil 1 table-spoon at a time, beating or shaking it in as added; add vinegar slowly, beating it in too. Store in glass jar and shake before using.

Fruit Cream Dressing
1/2 c. evaporated milk
2 tbsps. orange juice
1 tsp. lemon juice
2 tbsps. sugar or honey
1 tsp. salt

Combine ingredients in order named, add chopped herbs if desired, and use on fruit salad or shredded cabbage.

Whole Wheat Bread Scones
1/2 c. all-purpose flour
2 1/2 tbsps. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1 tbsps. sugar or honey
1 1/2 c. whole wheat flour
1/4 c. shortening
1/2 c. milk

Sift flour, measure and sift with baking powder, salt and sugar, then mix lightly with whole wheat flour. Cut in shortening, add milk gradually, stirring it in to form a soft dough. Roll 1/2 inch thick, and cut into 1 1/2 inch strips, then cut strips on bias. Brush tops with milk, then with sugar and cinnamon, if desired, and bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) for from 15 to 20 minutes.

HOROSCOPE
For Friday, July 17
A VERY propitious and encouraging state of affairs is read from the day's lunar and mutual aspects, with much of a very progressive nature transpiring that might advance the most ambitious of objectives in business, private and public associations. All should be pushed with vigor and confidence and sturdy application but not to the extent of impetuosity.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a very successful, active and productive year, with much moving toward high goals by expansive and ambitious but well-executed programs and plans of action. This should attract influential persons and enhance personal prestige and popularity, but only if pursued with calm, conservatism and patience.

A child born on this day should be highly versatile and ambitious, with fine literary or professional ability. Its popularity and personality should assure a pleasant social life.

GENEROUS GESTURE

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)
By ADELE GARRISON

"All right," my husband said, "I'll cut along and deliver your message to Dad and your lunch-
"Whitlock. May the messenger have a smoke first?"

"I think so," I told him smiling. "The worst thing about this arrangement," he said, when we had run the gamut of our favorite topics—the children and their doings—"is that the dear Lord alone knows, and He won't tell, when you and I are going to get another chance to see each other."

"You're going to tie up here with Katharine, and while I don't imagine old Harry will need to have his temperature taken every half hour, still I believe Dad will want me to stick around the Underwood marriage rather closely. So where does that leave us?"

"I'll leave you to think out a name for that location," I said, "then you can send it over to me" and he pulled a dolorous face.

Search Continued.
"Don't look so downcast, Sweet!" he advised me when ready to start for the Underwood house, as he held me close in a parting embrace. "After all, we'll be only a few blocks apart, and I'll try to scale the wall occasionally."

But the promise gave me little comfort in the two days following his departure, days which saw Katharine leaving on her tragic quest each morning.

Deeply worried, I talked to my father about her, but to my surprise found that he wished her to keep on with her search.

"Action, even such disappointing tell as this, is the best thing for her," he said. "Besides, I am counting on action of some sort from the person or persons responsible for that lying scound to Katharine, for that is clearly a forgery. You must realize that."

"Of course," I murmured dutifully, but I was not so sure as I sounded. Then came a sudden conviction that my father knew something about Jack's plans which he was confiding to no one; something which made him so didactically certain the appeal Katharine had received apparently from her husband was not authentic.

"If a stranger asks to see you within the next few days," my father went on, "have the person wait until either I or someone I delegate for the task is in the next suite with that camouflaged door ajar, then admit the person, be on your guard, and speak loudly enough so that whoever is in the next suite can hear you easily."

"You seem very sure that I shall have a visitor," I said. "I am sure," he replied, "just be prepared for the call, and use that trained memory of yours to preserve every word of what is said, in case part of it can't be heard clearly in the next suite."

Madge Jitters
Something in his manner convinced me that he considered this expected call highly important, and thereafter I was actually jittery whenever my telephone rang, until I found the call was not to announce a stranger.

It was the third day after Katharine's arrival when the expected call materialized.

"Desk speaking, Mrs. Graham," the voice said. "A man is here who wishes to send a card up to you. Do you want it?"

"Yes, please, right away," I answered.

"I'll send the boy right up," he answered, and when I put the receiver down both my hands and knees were trembling.

I had them under control by the time the bell boy arrived, and I looked at the card he handed me. Written rather indistinctly, I read, "Mr. R. Hawes," and beneath the name was added, "Urgent, about J. Becken."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

BY
Shepard Barclay
"The Authority on Authorities"

CARTOONS FOR LAUGH

Some of the very best and cleverest cartoons any of us see are those which treat the taking out of a business double as the most heinous of all crimes—except possibly the trumping of your partner's ace. But there are plenty of times when either of these things should be done, when failure to do it would be an arch crime. Don't think we are finding fault with the cartoons. We are not. We are merely pointing out that their purpose is to give us some fun, not teach us bad bridge.

That bidding went on at two tables of a duplicate game, except that at one of them it stopped abruptly after East's double of 2-Spades. As the play went, the contract was made, with the loss of only one trick each in the side suits and only two in trumps, as East was end-played through his side's over, had defense, and had to lead trumps from his own hand. It could readily be set one by a different succession of events.

Where West opened the bidding by taking out the double, a game was made, with the loss of only one trick each in hearts, diamonds and clubs, as South led a spade.

Where West reopened the bidding taking out the double—both of them sound. One was negative, indicated such length by the opposite fact that his blank in spades pointed that there was grave danger they would make the contract. The other was positive—the splendid fit with hearts and the fact that the spade blank was an asset at that contract. Failure to take out that double is definitely bad bridge.

Tomorrow's Problem.

Suzy (Snow White) Steele has switched to a South American multimillionaire, and she has a glimmering diamond wristwatch to prove it . . . Pepo Russo and the Stork Club are divorcing . . . It's probably apocryphal (it's probably what???) but around town they're saying that if you call the Waldorf and ask for the king, they say "Which one?" . . . Al Schacht, the baseball clown and Diana Fontaine, the Club 18 diva, are a heart today.

You'd be astonished to know which feminine star of a big Broadway hit is drawing a salary of exactly $150 a week . . . The Jean Gabin-Charles Boyer feud over alleged differences of political opinion continues to be the talk of Broadway and Beverly Hills . . . Seaman Jacobs has been promoted to a sergeant, and is Margie Hart proud! . . . Nick and Vicki Collins, the dancing kids at Leon and Eddie's, are now Mr. and Mrs. . . . Adele Jergens, who has so many gilded playboys running after her, is carrying the torch for a fellow worker . . . Pic magazine is reading a feature department which will check on the accuracy of the Broadway columnists, quoting items and predictions that never came true, and applauding those items that did.

DEMANDS U. S. RECAPTURE WAR BROKER'S FEES

Vinson Says Committee Will 'Insist' After Hearing Firm Made $350,000.

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON—Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) said today the house naval committee would insist that the government renegotiate army and navy contracts to recapture "commission fees paid to war brokers."

He said the action would save millions of dollars, "break up this commission racket," and end the impression among many manufacturers that they "must have so-called influence boys," the war brokers, as their sales agents in Washington.

Vinson's disclosure came as the committee resumed its detailed inquiry into the operations of the commission agents. Sitting in on the investigations are representatives of the department of justice and the army and the navy.

Thomas Hinkel, committee counsel, said the committee was going deeper into the affairs of William Scrimgeour and Sons, "who operate on a contingent fee basis and who furnish so-called engineering services in addition to their sales activities."

In a statement read to the committee yesterday, Hinkel declared that "on naval contracts alone since September, 1939, this outfit has received over $200,000. In addition, it has acted as prime contractor on certain navy contracts with a resulting profit to itself of over $150,000 since September 1939."

The committee concentrated yesterday on the activities of a Washington firm of three self-styled "sales engineers"—A. P. Shirley, a one-time army major who said his income in 1929 was between $7,500 and $10,000, and F. B. Olcott and F. C. Nichols, both former civilian employees of the navy, the former at $4,600 a year and the latter at $4,000.

They acknowledged receiving a profit of $208,211.94 each from their fees for the first six months of this year. Vinson asserted that their testimony and documents introduced by committee investigators showed that they had "an inside track" in obtaining contracts at the navy department for manufacturers.

J. B. Decker, vice president and general manager of the Triumph Explosive company at Elkton, Md., said the Shirley-Olcott-Nichols company held a contract entitling them to receive a commission of one per cent for obtaining government war work at a plant built with federal funds and operated by Triumph for the government.

Some days are like that, according to Mrs. John Austin and her sister, Mrs. E. B. Whitman, of Detroit. Yesterday, Mrs. Whitman and her daughter, Mary Carol, arrived from Detroit and checked in at the Mansfield Hotel, intending to show up as surprise guests at the benefit concert being given by Betty Austin, Mrs. Whitman's niece. They inquired if the flowers they had ordered for the occasion had been delivered. But were they surprised when they learned that they were just two days late—that the concert had been given Monday night.

Supt. Olan LaRue of the Madison township schools has learned, painfully, that motorcycles have more speed and pep now than when he was a boy. Vacating the other day in his home community near Bluffton, he started out on his brother's cycle, certain that he remembered enough from former experiences to enable him to handle the machine. Before he had gone far the motorcycle was out of control and rammed through two fences, throwing LaRue off. He suffered numerous cuts and bruises. He's back home now, making preparations for the new school year.

There will be no lull in activities at Hidden Hollow camp, operated by Friendly House the last week in July when registration will be limited to mothers and small children. So much has been crammed into the program that there will never be a dull moment. Swimming, dramatics, handicraft and an original fashion show are on the schedule and the big special event will be a six-mile hike with the husbands and fathers as guests. Twenty mothers and children are enrolled for the week.

City council was publicly thanked last night for granting permission for the erection of a billboard in Central park to publicize the progress of the sale of war bonds and stamps in Richland county. Council was thanked in a letter from T. R. Sammons, company, outdoor advertisers, who stated that it would donate the billboard because 18 other industrial firms had contracted for similar signs to be placed in various parts of the city.

SOLDIER HELD

Picked Up Here, Turned Over To Army as Deserter.

A 26-year-old Morrow county youth who had been absent without leave from Camp Shelby, Miss., since March 3, was taken into custody in Mansfield yesterday and turned over to authorities at Fort Hayes, Columbus, as an army deserter.

The youth, Ivan Adkins, was arrested at 30 East First street by Sheriff Frank E. Robinson and Detective Lee Remy. The sheriff took him to Fort Hayes.

Inducted into the army from Mt. Gilead, Adkins said he had been working in Sandusky until recently, but came to Mansfield when he learned that authorities were looking for him in the Sandusky area.

CINCINNATI SHAKEN BY HEAVY BLAST

Buildings Rocked For Four Blocks as Spark Ignites

Spilled Gasoline. CINCINNATI—Investigators said today that an electric spark set off an explosion of gasoline that wrecked an automobile rental garage, killed four persons, injured a dozen, and shook buildings four blocks away as though there had been an earthquake.

The explosion of the 500-gallon tank at 11:25 p. m. Wednesday, killed Police Sgt. Carl Hill, 35; Albert Bass, 34, who was returning a rented car; John Rehe, 49, night garage attendant, and an unidentified negro employed by the garage.

Kenneth Botoroff, 24, in the garage when the explosion occurred, was in critical condition from burns.

The other injured were cut by glass and debris. Some were two or three blocks away.

Sgt. Hill and Patrolman Charles Kasselmann drove to the Hodge rental garage in answer to a call. A man ran out and shouted: "There's leaking gas around here and I'm afraid something's going to happen."

As Hill got to the doorway, the gasoline exploded and blew him 200 feet. Bass was knocked 175 feet.

The steel-reinforced garage was shattered. Windows were broken in buildings several blocks from the garage. Authorities estimated the damage at more than $100,000.

A garage attendant was reported to have knocked over a gasoline pump while moving a truck. Witnesses said that there was a great flash of light, apparently originating in the basement.

Automobiles from the second floor of the garage were blown into the street. Street car power lines were put out of commission.

Botoroff said that he and Bass had rented a car and had been driving with their wives. He said that they took their wives home and were returning the car to the garage.

Mansfielder Dies On Vacation Trip In West Virginia

Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 p. m. Friday at the Meredith church in Fredericktown for Wade Heckert, 62, of Mansfield, who died Tuesday while vacationing at the home of a brother, Gordon Heckert, in Troy, W. Va.

Services will be charge of Rev. Frank W. Stanton, pastor of the Baptist church in Fredericktown. Burial will be in Forest cemetery, Fredericktown.

The body is at the home of a sister, Mrs. Opal Dingek, 7 Stodd avenue, Mansfield, where it will remain until 9:30 a. m. Friday when it will be removed to Fredericktown.

Mr. Heckert, a former maintenance employee of the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company plant, had been in West Virginia only a week. He died after a brief illness. He formerly lived in Fredericktown but had been a Mansfield resident for a number of years.

Survivors are two sons, John H. Heckert of Mansfield, and Dana of Fredericktown; one daughter, Mrs. Dinges of Mansfield; two brothers, Lee of Cox Hills, W. Va., and Gordon, Troy, W. Va., and one sister, Mrs. Ortha Ellison of Greenville, W. Va.

BUTLER WOMAN DIES AT AGE 70

BUTLER—Mrs. Charles Norris, 70, of north of here died Wednesday at her home following a lingering illness.

Surviving are her husband; two sons, F. L. Norris, of Butler, and one son, F. L. Norris, of Butler, and three grand-children; a brother, Curt Stahl, of Mansfield, and three sisters, Mrs. Effie Swihart, of near Fredericktown, Mrs. Addie Bowman, of Ankenytown, and Mrs. Clara Bridge-land, of Bellville.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 p. m. Friday at the George funeral home by Rev. George Schrack of Perryville. Burial will be in Bellville cemetery.

LOSES LICENSE

Pleading guilty of driving an auto while under the influence of alcohol, Earl L. Robertson, 174 Audsle avenue, was fined $250 and costs and his driver's license revoked for one year by Municipal Judge G. E. Kalsfleisch, Thursday. The court suspended $200 of the fine.

According to police Robertson's car Wednesday night struck the car of Mrs. Anna Mattox, parked in front of her home, 607½ West Fourth street.

HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD—Glamour factory at war:

What's going to happen to the multi-million dollar movie in this era of stress?

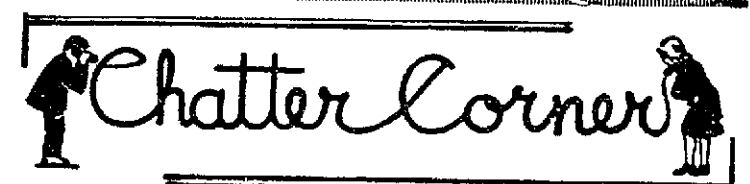

The chances are that it will be with us yet, though perhaps more the rarity than in the past—and it has always been rare.

The trend in recent years has been, where a producer wanted to gamble in the seven-figure game, to make films that could be counted on to run for years, returning cost and profit via the long run.

The average movie, especially the early talkie, had to make a quick kill at the box-office and tell its tale of profit or loss within the span of a few months. With most of them it is still here today and gone tomorrow, leaving the producer wallowing or rejoicing.

"Gone With the Wind" set the new pattern. Its clean sweep of new picture records at advanced prices bolstered its approach to "popular" runs where, two years later, it is still adding to Selznick's and Metro's profits.

There was an occasional silent picture—namely "The Birth of a Nation." DeMille's "King of Kings," "The Four Horsemen" and "The Big Parade"—which refused to be shelved after the first heavy onslaughts on the box-office and continued for years afterward.

Billie McQuiller and Margaret Crowl greeting high school friends while eating lunch . . . Martha Pfaff hurrying down Fourth street to get to work in time . . . Pauline Hoff trying to find more arm space for carrying bundles.

Ann Divilovitch eating a breakfast of maple rolls still warm from the bakery oven . . . Eleanor Underwood chatting with an acquaintance about friends and relatives in the army . . . WILL OVERHAUL SHIP PROGRAM

United Nations Act To Curb Subs, Speed Building, Curtail 'Gifts.'

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—A thorough overhauling of shipbuilding and shipping schedules was forecast in United Nations circles today, coincident with an announcement that cargo space is so scarce that the "Bundles for Britain" campaign will be curtailed.

Expressing worry over the German submarine menace against needs of global warfare, officials said these steps probably would be taken shortly:

1. An increased speed and efficiency in the production of cargo and troop ships.
2. Development of new means to combat submarines.
3. Reduction of cargo space given over to civilian needs.

The cut-down in the amount of civilian goods now filling the holds of many ships travelling the dangerous sealanes to Britain was announced in an exchange of letters between Prime Minister Winston Churchill and President Roosevelt.

Churchill expressed gratitude for the "brotherly flow of material" for Britain's "comfort in days of suffering and of trial," but said it must be diminished to make room for the "enormously increased flow of war materials for which ocean transport has to be provided."

Efforts on the other two shipping fronts—increased production and more efficient anti-submarine activities—were more secret.

But it is known that the joint shipping allocations mission, represented here by Admiral Emory S. Land and Sir Arthur Salter, is giving serious consideration to all shipping problems.

ILL 3 WEEKS, DIES AT HOME

Mrs. Charles Mills, 56, Lived Near Bellville 18 Years.

BELLVILLE—Mrs. Charles Mills, 56, died at her home two miles west of here, yesterday after an illness of three weeks. She had been a resident of this vicinity for the past 18 years.

Surviving are her husband, a son, Victor, Bellville; a step-mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Phiffer; a brother, C. D. Phiffer, and a sister, Mrs. Ruth Glenn, all of Columbus. Mrs. Mills was a member of St. John's Evangelical church at Marion.

The body is at the Snyder funeral home here where funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m. Saturday by Rev. Paul Saleste, Mansfield. Burial will be in Bellville cemetery.

FLYNN ILL

Film Star Collapses During Prize Fight Scene.

HOLLYWOOD—(INS)—Screen star Errol Flynn, in a hospital following his collapse during the filming of a prize fight scene at Warner Brothers studios yesterday, was under treatment today for nothing more serious than "extreme fatigue."

His physician, Dr. Leland Chapman, said that electro-cardiographs definitely showed that the actor's collapse was not due to a heart attack. Flynn has "athlete's heart" and it was feared at first that his heart was involved.

WIDOW STRICKEN

Mrs. Emoline Stentz Dies at Home of Daughter.

Mrs. Emoline B. Stentz, the widow of the late Emory K. Stentz, died yesterday evening at the home of her daughter, Mrs. O. L. Henderson, 142 Helen avenue, following a heart attack.

Born in Caledonia, she spent most of her life in and near Galion before coming to the home of her daughter in Mansfield several years ago. She was a member of the United Brethren church in Galion and the Daughters of Liberty.

Surviving besides her daughter, Mrs. Henderson, are two sisters, Mrs. Amanda Cronenwett of Galion and Miss Louise Marggraf of Bucyrus; a brother, E. E. Marggraf of Bucyrus; two grandsons, Renald Henderson of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Roy Henderson of Washington, D. C., and a great-grandchild.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 p. m. Friday, at the Herman Volk Funeral home in Galion by Rev. R. L. Foulke, pastor of the Central Methodist church in Mansfield. Burial will be in Galion cemetery.

CHAPTER III

He took a firm grip on the horse. The horse stood there, head bowed. Mike helped him up, and the horse went into action, spun left on its hind legs and dashed at the nearest fence. It flung its rump and Gordon's leg against the steel bars. Luckily Gordon's foot was held high. The gelding twisted, bucked and stopped short and Gordon went down in mud.

Up on his feet and at the horse's head. Bridle twisted angrily, a leg over the saddle, knees clenched. Gordon brought the head up. The horse sunfished on hind legs—pawing at the air, fighting for the bit. And they rode; galloped when Gordon wanted, and at a trot when he wanted that. It was an admiring Mike who waited for them, and said, "Mr. Blake, he knows his master. He's real bad. I never let strangers take him out. I guess he won't be so hard to handle any more. Ah—wouldn't Mr. Morley have been surprised to see you stay on him?"

"Who?"

"Mr. Morley—that used to be his horse. He always said the horse would never let anyone else ride him."

That put a tang in the rest of the day for Gordon, and he tapped out 1,500 words on "Moral Fiber" in his study. He phoned Ed Boden, his agent. Boden said he liked the idea and wanted to see a draft of the article. "And don't vegetate in Long Island hot-houses. Get down here. I got an idea for a bunch of sketches. Moods and personalities. Color pieces. Why not tomorrow?"

Gordon told Boden he was out of the "quickie stuff" and back in the writing groove, and he meant it. He read the first draft of "Moral Fiber" to Audrey. It was serious reading. He should have read her J. P. McEvoy or Frank Sullivan. She needed cheering that much. She had returned disconsolate after a hunt for repairs on the portrait. They were almost impossible to make. Where was the portrait? She had left it at a shop—but had not received a definite promise that they could repair it.

Gordon and Audrey were in the living-room near the fireplace; burning logs were sparkling against the dark background; Audrey was smoking. Gordon watched her slight nervousness.

He had hoped for coffee and brandy, with both of them snuggled on the couch—hand in hand—close and understanding. But that wouldn't happen—he could see that. "I really ought to take a run into town tomorrow morning," he said. "Boden has a spot for some new work, and I might go around Fifty-seventh street for you. There should be someone there to patch up Morley's picture."

"Patch? But I don't want it patched! Have them drive you in. Call the chauffeur or tell Oliver what time you want him. About the picture, leave that to me. You'd better run along. You'll need sleep. Kiss me good-bye in the morning."

Her hand in his was cool and soft. He looked at her hard for a moment—but the room was shadowy. Maybe she couldn't see the hurt in his eyes. Perhaps she was upset. He swallowed his pride and went upstairs and read himself to sleep.

At dawn he stood bent above her head which was deep in the silken pillow.

The telephone awakened Audrey. Sleepily she answered it. "What time is it? Who do you want? Mr. Blake? Mr. Who? Oh, Mr. Blake? Yes! Who's calling?"

"Never mind who's calling! Just put him on the wire," a harsh voice answered. "I want to talk to him."

"He doesn't happen to be at home."

"Listen, I'm not fooling. Sure he's not home. His home is with me. I want to talk to Gordon Blake, and I got a right to talk to him."

"Don't be so curt about it," said Audrey. "I tell you he isn't here, and don't talk about your right to speak to him. Mr. Blake happens to be my husband."

"What?" The voice became thinner and higher. "Your husband? Where do you get that tripe? Who do you think you're kidding? You're nutty as fruit cake. He's my boy friend. I'll talk to him if I got to phone him every hour. Get that."

Audrey furious, answered with, "Well, you get this. You won't ever talk to him in this house if I answer the phone!" She slammed down the receiver, and muttered fiercely, "The trollop!"

That evening she told Gordon she wanted to go out for dinner. She was in a dinner dress of melon pink silk and chiffon; four jeweled buttons, with giant chiffon poppies for pockets. She looked especially beautiful, but taut. He said he had expected to work on the sketches and dine at home. And that was the wrong answer; the one wrong word was either "expected" or "work." The one wrong time to say it, like the torn thread that starts a run in sheer silk.

"Why didn't you phone and tell me that? You knew my private phone, didn't you?"

"I was so busy, Audrey," he continued, "first work I've done for a while. Of course, I remember the number."

"Someone else used it this afternoon."

"That's nice. Old friends?"

"Not a friend of mine by a long shot," she flung back at him. "But one of yours. I wish you hadn't told her my private number."

"What do you mean, her?"

"A girl friend of yours, Gordon—an enemy of mine, judging from the way she spoke. Of course I'm not surprised that there have been other women in your life."

He faced her, surprised, eyes still and wide, and told her there was no one to whom he had ever given the number, or ever would. Audrey's answer was hot, hot as the phrases that had stung her ear when she had listened to the phone.

"I'm not jealous, just humiliated. I never heard more swinish talk," she said, "and that creature certainly knew you well."

Since "Madam was out," Gordon thumbed listlessly through business envelopes until he picked out a dark gray, heavy envelope addressed to him. There was no return address on it. It was gummed tight and he tore off the end rather than wait to get a paper knife. There was a single gray sheet inside, typewritten:

Gordon realized that the writer of the letter knew. And it seemed that the "letters" might explain something. He decided, walked quickly to the dressing table, put his fingers behind the mirror. The top drawer which sprang open held a brooch, a bracelet and a powder puff. He ran his fingers around the back of the drawer; nothing. He laughed. Of course not!

But the second drawer was different, shallow, and his hand was tense when he placed it to the rear, and it trembled when it

They were tied with ribbon, about twelve of them, most of them the same color, and addressed to Audrey in large, angular writing. His fingers fumbled with the bow; he looked again, to memorize the order in which they were placed. They were from Clifford Morley—all to her.

I. B. Isch Itches For Golf Crown

By JOHN FRYE

CINCINNATI—(AP)—The Ohio amateur golf tournament settles into the semi-serious business today of determining who has the inner strength to see it through—defending Champion Frank Stranahan, the Toledo weightlifter, or maybe one of nine Cincinnatians among the 16 players left in the tourney.

One possibility, and 19-year-old Frank is up against him in this morning's round, is the man nobody knows under the name of I. B. Isch of Cincinnati.

This pseudonym, playing no pseudo-golf, came through yesterday's second round with a 3 and 2 victory over Bill Roach, pretty good local boy. It is said that he could beat Stranahan and thus move into the afternoon's quarter-finals.

Maurice McCarthy, who stretched his usually steady skill to eke out a win over Neil Ransick, 1935 champion, on the 21st hole, also could come through for his fourth title. McCarthy meets Bob Myers of Cincinnati, a Dartmouth basketball star, today.

Other pair... Harold Paddock of Cleveland plays Tom White-way, also of Cleveland. (White-way beat Bill McCabe of Middletown 6 and 4.)

William Podolski of Columbus, last year's public links runner-up, plays Paul Schutte of Cincinnati. Doug Hill of Cincinnati meets Dave Moes of Lima, who downed Bill Clensy of Cincinnati one up.

Pete Sohl of Columbus meets Elmer Tunker of Cincinnati, and Pete Stuntebeck of Cincinnati plays Barney Hunt of Columbus.

Fans Brawl as Brewers Win

Swarm on Field With Game Still In Doubt.

(By Associated Press)

Even the fans had a hand in proceedings last night as the struggling Milwaukee Brewers pulled a game out of the fire against Kansas City's American Association pace setters.

The score was 3 to 2. The fans entered into things in the ninth inning. With the score tied at two-all, Relief Pitcher Charley Wensloff hurled three straight balls. On the fourth pitch, Pinch Runner Vandenberg strolled home from third.

He said Umpire Johnson's ruling was not clear, that he understood it was a ball, forcing him home. The umpire said something, but so did the fans, swarming onto the field to emphasize their opinions. Order restored, Vandenberg went back to third. The next pitch was a ball and Vandenberg scored the winning tally for the Brewers.

Louisville broke a six-game losing streak by defeating Indianapolis, 5 to 4, and regained sixth place when Toledo lost to Columbus and Harry Brecheen, 6 to 0.

Minneapolis Whipped St. Paul in 10 Innings, 5 to 4

Toledo, after losing its league start, came back to play the Great Lakes Training station in an exhibition and handed the sailors their eighth defeat in 50 starts, 7 to 3.

Salvage Grapefruit

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Thirty tons of abandoned grapefruit were hauled to the county dump by August Grunow, independent grower and shipper, because he couldn't find a market for it. It was salvaged quickly by Phoenix residents, who learned of it through a newspaper.

BIKE IN GOOD SHAPE

KENNERBUNK, Me. (AP)—To ease her husband's worries over the automobile tire shortage, Mrs. Alice Shoemaker climbed to the attic and dug out her 50-year-old bicycle, still in good condition. It cost $100 when new.

Joe is still smiling...

This Friday is American Heroes' Day and the Nation is making a special War Bonds and Stamps effort in salute to the Mehles, the Bulkeleys, the Kellys of our brave young fighting forces... And we are, too... but we can't help thinking of Joe.

You remember Joe. He used to carry your packages from your Kroger store out to your car. Quiet kind of a kid... took it all out in a friendly grin and maybe a chance remark or two: "How are you today, Mrs. Allen?", or "Is the little boy's cold better?" And you liked Joe. So did we.

Joe worked vacations for us at first. And then he started full time. You can't stop willingness like Joe had. And that grin. And he was proud of his advancement; proud one day, too, of that little sign: "Manager, Joe"

And then Uncle Sam needed him. Joe didn't ask any favors. He didn't make any speeches about liberty. He just grinned... and said: "OK!" He just offered his life.

We've got a lot of Joes... and Charlies... and Harrys gone from Kroger's. And there's a lot of them missing where you work, and from the street where you live.

But it's good to know they're smiling wherever they may be... smiling because there are so many of us here at home determined to work harder, save harder, to keep them supplied with the guns and tanks and ships that will let them come home to us.

So, on American Heroes' Day, we want to salute the sung heroes... and we want to salute Joe and all the unsung boys like him... And on this day, we'd like to remind you to buy even more War Stamps and Bonds to keep the fightin'est army in the world fighting... and smiling!

REAL TEST DUE FOR GUARDSMEN AT NEW CAMP

General Calls Hocking Ideal For Guerrilla Training To Defend Ohio.

Command country will greet members of Mansfield's Company F of the Ohio State guard next Sunday when they arrive at Camp Hocking in southeastern Ohio to open a week of ultra-intensive training in guerrilla warfare.

The Mansfield guardsmen, previously trained in drilling and individual matters such as marksmanship, will find themselves learning guerrilla warfare on rugged terrain perfectly suited for it.

"The site at Camp Hocking as well as that at Camp Zaleski where other guardsmen will train is much better for our purposes than Camp Perry in every way," said Adjutant-General Donald F. Pancoast today, while touring the camp sites with an aide and three newspapermen, International News Service dispatches to The News-Journal reported.

"Perry is probably the best rifle range in the world, but it is as flat as the palm of your hand. It has no trees, no cover, no variety of terrain. At Hocking and Zaleski we can teach our troops to make the ground their friend, and that it can save their lives.

"We can teach them to take cover, to make use of every bush, every tree, every little depression. And we are not fooling, this training is needed, and that is no pipe-dream.

"A look at a globe will show that we in industrial Ohio are as close by airline to Axis bombing bases as the east coast if the enemy should choose to come over the top of the world. We must prepare to combat any attempted airborne invasion by parachute troops and hold them until regular troops can arrive. That, with our lack of artillery and aircraft is almost a sacrifice job. Our only hope lies in guerrilla warfare; in perfecting ourselves in hand-to-hand, chest-to-chest combat."

General Pancoast pointed out that all training of troops has only one test—success in battle.

"Hence we will not bother with close-order drill or any other form of training that can be done as well in the armory," he stated. "There will be no parade-ground maneuvers, except perhaps one review when Gov. Bricker inspects us. This terrain provides the ultimate in training facilities and we intend to make the most of it."

Both Camp Hocking, where brigade headquarters will be established, and Camp Zaleski, 20 miles southeast, are being expanded to care for 550 men for each eight-day training period. Double-deck bunks are being installed; field kitchens under canvas will augment present cooking facilities; extra sanitary facilities are being rushed to completion.

The schedule calls for the training to get under way with a thorough study of training films provided by the regular army. Then individuals will be taught guerrilla warfare, then squads and platoons, then companies and battalions.

Finally, a week from tomorrow night, will come the climax of the first period's training—night maneuvers. The full regiment will advance in total darkness against a mythical enemy, under simulated attack by Civil Air Patrol planes. General Pancoast and his staff will act as umpires.

Camp Hocking, in the midst of the Hocking county scenic region and close to Old Man's cave, will play host the first period, beginning Sunday and extending to July 26, to guard units from Akron, Canton, Youngstown, Warren, Cleveland, Mansfield, Norwalk, Findlay, Napoleon and Bucyrus.

Camp Zaleski, just north of the Vinton county community of the same name, will be the headquarters for units from Columbus, Chillicothe, Athens, Coshocton, Lancaster, London, Delaware, Marysville, Marion, Marietta, Zanesville and Westerville.

For the second training period from July 26 to Aug. 2, the units at Camp Hocking will be those from Washington, C. H., Cleveland and Columbus, while troops from Cincinnati, Eaton, Hamilton, Manchester, Hillsboro, Xenia, Kenton, Sidney and Lima will be at Camp Zaleski.

Veteran Of Two Wars Years To Return To Duty

MEMPHIS, Tenn. —(U.S.)—This is Fred Bauer's third war, and once again he won't be able to get into combat service—unless he pulls a stunt similar to the one he used to get into his first war some 44 years ago.

Today Bauer is 58, and has registered in the fourth draft—but he regrets the fact that he will be classified for non-combatant service only. Bauer wanted to get into World War One, too, but was rejected on physical grounds.

But he remembered still another war in which he took an active part—and regulations at that time said he shouldn't have

EIGHT O'CLOCK
America's Favorite Coffee

TRAVELS THE HARD WAY!

Eight O'Clock Coffee comes exclusively from Brazil—a long, hard sea journey. Because of fewer ships to carry coffee, you may sometimes notice a shortage of this famous blend. But this is wartime and the ships are needed to transport men and materials to far-flung battle fronts. A&P, world's largest coffee merchant, is doing everything possible to supply the demand for Eight O'Clock Coffee. However, we will appreciate it if you will understand when a clerk says: "Sorry, madam, we are temporarily out of Eight O'Clock Coffee".

IN THE MEANTIME...

Try one of the other two famous blends of A&P Coffee—Red Circle, rich and full-bodied and Bokar, vigorous and winery. Both of these blends contain liberal amounts of fine Colombian Coffee—and because the journey from Colombia is shorter than the one from Brazil, more Colombian coffee is available. Treat your family to one of these finer, fresher coffees this very day. Remember—every pound is custom ground exactly right for your very own coffee-maker. You get all the fine flavor of this "pick of the plantation coffee".

Tires Thin, Trains Crowded? Try These at Home for Vacation

Many Americans, who in previous years hopped in the family car and rolled off to vacation hundreds of miles away, are casting around this summer for something to do close to home. Pictured above are some suggestions for relaxation that can be found without wandering far afield. If you can't think of anything else to do, you could then take the last resort—find a shady, grassy plot and snooze the days away, lower left. You will find all of these a lot of fun—and inexpensive.

SEEK ATHLETIC EQUIPMENT FOR YANK PRISONERS IN FAR EAST

Mansfielders were given an opportunity to aid the heroes of Bataan and Wake Island when the Y. M. C. A. today made an appeal for athletic equipment and musical instruments for American and other United Nations fighting men held as prisoners of war in the Far East.

According to Ralph B. Chapman materials turned in here will be sent to the prisoners by the World's Alliance of Y. M. C. A.'s, which enjoys the confidence of all belligerents, on a neutral relief ship some time this summer.

Especially needed are bats, balls, gloves and other baseball items. Also wanted are footballs, volley balls, and table games such as chess, checkers, and table tennis.

Musical instruments of almost any type are in demand, Chapman said.

"While the equipment, which may be turned in at Y headquarters on Park avenue west, need not be new," Chapman went on, "it should be in fairly good condition."

The Y. M. C. A. is able to serve Americans captured in the Far East because its war prisoner aid benefits are extended to prisoners throughout the world, regardless of nationality. Under Geneva Convention provisions concerning the treatment of prisoners, both Axis and United Nations have asked

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 quarts a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help thin 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

SALES TAX OFF MORE SHARPLY

Shows Heaviest Decline of Year, 50 Per Cent, In July's First Week.

State sales tax revenue in Richland county dropped more than 50 per cent during the first week of July, the heaviest decline so far this year as compared with a corresponding period last year, the state treasurer's report showed today.

Collections for the first week of this month totaled $4,401 as against $9,284 during the first week of last July.

Receipts followed the same trend throughout Ohio, declining from $784,917 in the first week of July, 1941, to $438,378 this year.

State Treasurer Don Ebricht said the sharp decline was due primarily to an economic "digging in" which was induced by price ceilings and increased emphasis Mixed Trends Cloud Market Direction; Oil Supply Shows Decrease.

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK—Slightly mixed trends continued to cloud the direction of the stock market today.

Up fractionally were U. S. Steel, Union Carbide, Westinghouse, Pullman and Corn Products. Lower prices were posted for American Airlines, Goodrich, Pennsylvania, Socony-Vacuum and General Electric.

Holders of oil notes noted the figures of the American Petroleum Institute disclosing stocks of finished and unfinished gasoline in the United States at the end of the last week amounted to 85,658,000 barrels, a decrease of 1,356,000 from the preceding week.

Studied also was the summary of Dun & Bradstreet placing bank clearings in 23 cities for the week concluded July 15 at 5 percent above the week before and 7.2 percent over the comparable 1941 period.
